From the Pastor's Desk

It seems to me that many people who attend Mass do not understand why anyone would want to receive communion on their tongue. I'm going to reprint here a very good article by a Christopher Carstens that might help people who don't understand this practice understand it better. – Fr. Bill

First, in Pope John Paul II's Encyclical letter Ecclesia de Eucharistia, "On the Eucharist in its Relationship to the Church," the late pontiff offers a remarkable comparison between the Blessed Virgin Mary and the Communicant. "There is a profound analogy," he says, "between the Fiat which Mary said in reply to the angel, and the Amen which every believer says when receiving the body of the Lord. Mary was asked to believe that the One whom she conceived 'through the Holy Spirit' was 'the Son of God' (Lk 1:30-35). In continuity with the Virgin's faith, in the Eucharistic mystery we are asked to believe that the same Jesus Christ, Son of God and Son of Mary, becomes present in his full humanity and divinity under the signs of bread and wine" (55). He goes on to liken Mary to a tabernacle—"the first 'tabernacle' in history" (ibid.).

If there is a lesson for the communicant, it is that, like Mary, our reception of Jesus is characterized by lowliness, humility, and docility.

A second consideration of Eucharistic Communion stems from the texts of the Roman Missal. At the end of the preparatory rites prior to the Eucharistic Prayer, the priest commands us to "Pray that my sacrifice and yours may be acceptable to God, the Almighty Father."

This notion of sacrifice, says Pope Benedict, is "a concept that has been buried beneath the debris of endless misunderstandings" (The Spirit of the Liturgy 27). While it is tempting to think of "sacrifice" as essentially pain, loss, suffering, and deprivation, at its heart sacrifice is union with God, divinization, and "becoming love with Christ" (76).

Consequently, if Eucharistic Communion is the fruit of Christ's—and our own—sacrifice, that is, his action of selfless turning to the Father, our manner of reception likewise needs be characterized by our heartfelt desire to unite to God our entire freedom, memory, will, and all we possess ("Prayer of Self-Offering,"* St. Ignatius of Loyola, found in the Roman Missal).

ST. MARY'S NEWS

ST MARY'S BINGO NET PROFIT is averaging $1550 every week. Thanks to Barb Murray, the coordinator, and all of our volunteers. Bingo is a strictly volunteer operation, and so it is successful only because of the generosity of these volunteers. Sunday is a tough night to ask for volunteer time, so our helpers are doubly appreciated. We could always use more help. It is a pretty efficient way to raise money for the parish. Your time put in for bingo volunteering yields a pretty high rate of return for the parish. Fr. Bill Barron
