QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Suggested text for faith sharing: Today's Gospel

Adults – Today we celebrate the relationship of love among the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. In what similar community of love do you live?

Youth – Jesus left the world. He sent the Holy Spirit to be with us. Have you ever given something important to someone else as a sign of love for them? Have you ever experienced the Holy Spirit as a similar gift to you?

Children – God fills us with love. How, this week, will you show your family—your mom, dad, brothers, sisters, grandparents, cousins—that you love them as God loves them?

We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ, Your Son, Who lives and reigns with You in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God for ever and ever. Amen.

WHOLE COMMUNITY CATECHESIS

SIGN OF THE CROSS

Paul Turner

Each Mass begins with the sign of the cross. The priest says, "In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit," and the people answer, "Amen." Meanwhile, all make the traditional gesture in accompaniment. Usually they use their right hand to touch their forehead, breast, and left and right shoulders while the names of the Trinity are pronounced. In some cultures, people kiss their thumb afterward or fold their hands. Some lower their head or close their eyes, but others look straight ahead to draw inspiration from the faith of the entire community.

Prior to the Second Vatican Council, the priest gestured the sign of the cross alone while saying the words silently. Pope Paul VI personally requested that a communal sign of the cross be introduced at the start of the Mass, where it has been since 1969.

The sign of the cross is a popular way to begin and conclude prayer. For example, a mealtime blessing often opens and closes with it. It verbally proclaims our faith in the Holy Trinity as it announces our intentions to do and say all things in the name of God.

At times during Mass, the priest traces a cross in the air with his right hand raised up, fingers extended, and palm facing his left. He positions his hand in the direction of people or things he blesses. He does this, for example, after putting incense on burning coals, while blessing the deacon before he reads the Gospel, while calling down the Spirit over the bread and wine during the Eucharistic prayer, and while blessing the people just before the dismissal. His first and last words at Mass are the sign of the cross.

JOT

The Prayer of the Faithful

The petitions we know as the General Intercessions or Prayers of the Faithful are called the Universal Prayer in the 2012 revision of the Roman Missal. Their purpose remains the same—to appeal to God for the needs of our community and the needs of the world. The official name may cause us to pay more attention to the global focus of the prayer. In the flow of the mass, the Universal Prayer follows the Creed and concludes the section of mass known as the Liturgy of the Word.

An old adage recommends that these petitions be composed with the Scriptures in one hand and a newspaper—or newsfeed—in the other. It's good advice. These intentions are meant to address local and specific needs as well as the needs of all of God's creation. "[P]etitions may be offered for holy Church, for those who govern with authority over us, for those weighed down by various needs, for all humanity, and for the salvation of the whole world," according to the General Instruction of the Roman Missal (GIRM).

It may come as a surprise but our Intercessions evolved from the 18 Jewish synagogue prayers of petition called Tefillah or Amidah and became part of early Christian worship. Over the centuries they fell out of use until they were recovered with the liturgical revisions of Vatican II.

The Universal Prayer has three parts: An invitation to the assembly to present their needs, the reading of the petitions with a response and a closing prayer. Let's look at this structure more closely.

The presider invites the assembly to bring their needs before God. The Introduction to the Lectionary of the Mass says that he may use a reference from the Scriptures of the day in his invitation. A deacon or a lector reads the petitions speaking to the assembly, not to God. These petitions "should be sober, be composed with a wise liberty and in few words, and they should be expressive of the prayer of the entire community" (GIRM). Each petition concludes with a cue to the people, such as, "Let us pray to the Lord." The assembly's response, often "Lord, hear our prayer" is the actual prayer addressed to God.

Petitions are most effective when they address actual needs of the community. "Canned" resources should be carefully edited. Remember that petitions are to be universal and should include global and national issues that affect all of God's people. Nonetheless, petitions should avoid making political or partisan distinctions.

Some cautions: Avoid anonymous prayers, such as, for a special intention. These are to be public prayers with intentions that everyone can agree to pray for. Avoid prayers of thanksgiving. The entire Eucharistic celebration is all about thanksgiving. These are to be prayers of petition. Avoid the phrase "for N., for whom this mass is offered". Parishioners often make a donation to the church asking that a loved one be remembered at a mass. For these petitions, use this or a similar form "For N. and all who have died...." This retains the fundamental belief that mass is offered for all of us.

The Universal Prayer is a dialogue between reader and people and the new Missal encourages us to sing dialogues when possible. Here are some suggestions. The people's response may be sung. The cue to the response, and the people's response itself, may be sung. For more festive liturgies, the petitions themselves might be sung, as on Good Friday, with its tradition of sung solemn petitions and sung response.

To help engage the community, a general intention followed by a brief pause may help: "For peace in the world," (Pause for the assembly to consider the situations of war and violence in need of prayer.) "that country N. and country N... may see beyond their differences and seek peace." This allows all of us to join our personal prayers for peace with the specific petition and praying "Lord hear our prayer."

In the Universal Prayer, we acknowledge our need for divine help and this opens us up to the transformation of our relationship with God—and with our community.

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

On the weekend of June 29th and 30th, the Peter's Pence Collection will be taken in our parishes. Peter's Pence is the name given to the financial support offered by the faithful to the Holy Father as a sign of their sharing in the concern of the Successor of Peter for the many different needs of the Universal Church. It is a worldwide collection that supports the charitable works of Pope Francis. Funds from this collection help victims of war, oppression, and natural disasters, as well as seminaries and religious houses, orphanages, AIDS treatment centers, and other medical facilities in developing nations.

From the beginning the Church has made it a priority to help the neediest of our brothers and sisters in the human family. I ask you to please take this opportunity to join with Pope Francis in being a witness of charity to our brothers and sisters in need. Please be as generous as you can.

Through our support of the Peter's Pence Collection, all of us here in the Diocese of Erie are also helping to strengthen the ties that bind us together as the Family of God. Please know of my gratitude for your generosity.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

+Lawrence T. Persico
