Dear Friends in Christ:

Jesus is presented by Matthew as saying “Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me.” There were many who ‘joined in the crowd’ at synagogue, temple or homes for worship. There were countless who walked miles to attend Jesus’ public teachings. There were many who ‘went out to the desert’ to listen to John the Baptist. So lots of people are presented in the Gospel stories as seeking the truth, enlightenment. There are many today who attend Church services regularly, participate online and who practice personal devotions to Mary, St. Joseph, St. Francis, and novena or chaplet rituals regularly. It is to these who have already demonstrated some personal commitment and interest to whom Jesus gave that powerful “If-Then” command.

To the rich young man who asked Jesus “What must I do to follow you?” Jesus personalized His command: “Give up ALL you possess, give to the poor, and then, come follow me!”

Certainly, Jesus didn’t mean it to be taken literally. Or did he?
